

DR ELSIE INGLIS-SCOTTISH
WOMEN'S HOSPITALS' TRUST
Charities Number: SCO45161
founder/chair Ian McFarlane

*

THE ROYAL MILE EDINBURGH MONUMENT
Elsie Inglis (1864-1917)
pioneer of social & war medicine
FUNDING
£250K required

THE ROYAL MILE MONUMENT, EDINBURGH
The Dr Elsie Inglis-Scottish Women's Hospitals Trust is the only official charity to specifically raise funds for the commemorative monument on the Royal Mile to Edinburgh's Elsie Inglis (1864-1917). This woman surgeon and pioneer of social & war medicine, Inglis was also founder of the iconic women volunteers of the Great War, The Scottish Women's Hospitals

2020

FINANCIAL SUPPORT FROM

Royal College of Physicians & Surgeons of Glasgow supported financially by The Royal College of Physicians & Surgeons Glasgow and promoted by BMA Scotland the RCN Scotland a huge number of MSPs & MPs & Edinburgh Council (the Council have agreed to give the site of the monument on the Royal Mile & upkeep it in perpetuity). Re-established by Lord Provost The Rev Dr George Grubb: a Trustee who also committed in law that all Edinburgh Provosts were ex officio trustees, a position they demitted on leaving office. This follows the Abbaye de Royaumont monument, unveiled by HRH The Princess Royal, funded by The Trust (2008)

Former Prime Minister The Rt Hon Theresa May MP ....Thank you Mr McFarlane for your letter....it's important we continue to remember the legacy and lessons of the First World War. Women like Dr Inglis had an important role in the war effort, and it is right we recognise their achievements, often as pioneers in fields and occupations then considered unsuited to women... Buckingham Palace...Her Royal Highness, The Princess Royal is well aware of all the excellent work Ian MacFarlane has done in promoting the outstanding work of Dr Elsie Inglis and her colleagues in World War One and indeed visited a memorial to them in France a few years ago..... French Minister of Defence..Le Ministère de la Défense est heureux d'apporter son soutien à l'initiative de Ian McFarlane qui rend hommage à la générosité de ces 'Dames Écossaises' dont ont bénéficié des milliers de blessés français....*

funding to

Women in War - Dr Elsie Inglis-Scottish Women's Hospitals

Sort Code: 302581

Account no: 01078952

TSB, 28 Hanover Street
Edinburgh EH12 2DS

