

Proposed Wellbeing and Sustainable Development (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a Member's Bill to ensure policy development and implementation by public bodies is in line with principles of sustainable development and wellbeing by introducing a duty for public bodies to promote these principles and establishing a Commissioner for sustainable development and wellbeing.

The consultation runs from 14 December 2022 to 24 March 2023

All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. However, the option also exists of sending in a separate response (in hard copy or by other electronic means such as e-mail), and details of how to do so are included in the member's consultation document.

Questions marked with an asterisk (*) require an answer.

All responses must include a name and contact details. Names will only be published if you give us permission, and contact details are never published – but we may use them to contact you if there is a query about your response. If you do not include a name and/or contact details, we may have to disregard your response.

Please note that you must complete the survey in order for your response to be accepted. If you don't wish to complete the survey in a single session, you can choose "Save and Continue later" at any point. Whilst you have the option to skip particular questions, you must continue to the end of the survey and press "Submit" to have your response fully recorded.

Please ensure you have read the consultation document before responding to any of the questions that follow. In particular, you should read the information contained in the document about how your response will be handled. The consultation document is available here:

Aim and approach - Note: All answers to the questions in this section may be published (unless your response is "not for publication").

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill? (Please note, that this question is compulsory.)

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response.

The Church of Scotland is an advocate of caring for creation as well as climate and social justice. It is therefore supportive of the intergenerational implications of the proposed bill as it relates to these issues.

Q2. Do you think legislation is required, or are there other ways in which the proposed Bill's aims could be achieved more effectively? Please explain the reasons for your response.

The Church of Scotland does not have an official position on the requirements of legislation however this Bill would appear valuable for providing a consistent definition of sustainable development and wellbeing in law and for public bodies.

Q3. Which of the following best expresses your view on whether 'sustainable development' should be defined in legislation?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response, including any views on what the definition should include.

A definition that clearly articulates that the needs of future generations must be taken into consideration is essential to addressing the intergenerational impacts of climate change.

Q4. Which of the following best expresses your view on whether 'wellbeing' should be defined in legislation?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response, including any views on what the definition should include.

Partner Churches in Wales have appreciated the clear benefits of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015. We are convinced that having a statutory definition of wellbeing is effective. Scotland can learn from this by having a definition that provides more clarity and consistency for legislative purposes. We would strongly encourage consideration of Scottish legislation which closely resembles the Welsh Act.

The definition for Scotland should include recognition of the connection between human wellbeing and that of nature. It has been well documented that 'access to nature' ('nature prescription' as it is sometimes called) is a powerful antidote to mental health issues and a fundamental aspect of human wellbeing. The Scottish definition therefore should mention safe and easy access to nature in thriving ecosystems.

Q5. Which of the following best expresses your view on whether there should be a Commissioner for sustainable development and wellbeing?

Do not wish to express a view

Q6. What, in your view, should the title of the proposed Commissioner be?

Please explain the reasons for your response.

No Response

Q7. Which of the following best expresses your view on whether there is a need for duties for public bodies to promote sustainable development and wellbeing in policy development and implementation?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response including views on any barriers to implementation of these duties and on how the effectiveness of implementation could be measured.

It is necessary for full adoption of the definition that they are implemented consistently nationwide and demonstrated at all levels of decision making.

Financial Implications

Q8. Any new law can have a financial impact which would affect individuals, businesses, the public sector, or others. What financial impact do you think this proposal could have if it became law?

Don't know

Equalities

Q9. Any new law can have an impact on different individuals in society, for example as a result of their age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation.

What impact could this proposal have on particular people if it became law? If you do not have a view skip to next question.

Please explain the reasons for your response and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts on particular people.

No Response

Sustainability

Q10. Any new law can impact on work to protect and enhance the environment, achieve a sustainable economy, and create a strong, healthy, and just society for future generations.

Do you think the proposal could impact in any of these areas? (If you do not have a view then skip to next question)

Please explain the reasons for your response, including what you think the impact of the proposal could be, and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts?

The proposed bill should result in stronger protection for the environment.

General

Q11. Do you have any other additional comments or suggestions on the proposed Bill (which have not already been covered in any of your responses to earlier questions)?

no
